

Your recruitment partner, in-house at your business location.

When you need temporary or permanent recruitment expertise dedicated to your company, we can take care of all your cares in relation to your recruitment process as an in-house partner.

The process

As in-house partner, we work entirely on behalf of the organisation and adopt its DNA to understand what type of people and talents fit your company. We will carry out the entire recruitment process, applying ACT® in the selection phase in order to be able to select the right candidate for each job opening. We will use ACT® PreMatch in the pre-selection as well as ACT®.

Result

As we select on the basis of natural talent, employees will flourish and be happy in their work. This results in long-term relationships between the human being as employee and you as the employer.

In short: Employees' talents will be utilised, which will make your organisation successful.
